Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest state-

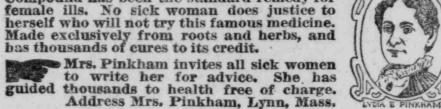

Cresson, Pa .- "Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lyaia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Aikey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.-"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ills, and I am nearly sixty years old."-Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women

The Eyes of the World on Aberta

Western Canada, even ten years ago, was to many a mere name, a land of mystery. Their medest fifteen to twenty millions bushels of wheat represented less than two per cent of the produc-tion of North America. Western Canada of today looms up as a nation in the eyes of the world, Her wheat production has now soared above the hundred million bushel mark, and represents oneeighth of the total production of North America

Years ago it was in order for intending settlers to make searching inquiries as to climate, soil and markets for agricultural products in Western Canada, before casting in their lots with the country. Today, such is, perhaps, superfluous. The enormous development in production tells its own tale. Western Canada doubled her population between the census of 1891 and that of 1901, and the population beautiful to the consust of the and the population has increased vastly since. The majority of the newcomers hailed from Great Britain and the United States. These people's mere presence and prosperity is a guarantee that conditions of life here are preferable to those prevailing where they came from.

Because Western Canada has attracted a large part of the world's attention during the past few years, and because it is their business to chronicle the world's doings, many of the world's doings, many of the magazines and newspapers throughout the civilized globe have sent into this country their best writers to thoroughly investigate conditions here and to give to the readers of their respective publications the story just as they found it. These writers are not the ones to be misled or influenced by surface conditions or the naturally face conditions, or the naturally optimistic statements of interes ed persons, for theirs has been work of analysis—a probing for the kernel of worth in every ques-tion and movement of their day, and many of the world's foremost agricultural experts and public men of high ideals have visited Western Canada and given out Western Canada and given out their views respecting its possibilities. Because this is so, it is felt that an opportunity to secure a few opinions on Western Canada which have been contributed at various times by discerning and disinterested parties, both from the United States and Great Britain, will give to the public a truer understanding of conditions here than might be gathered from almost any other source.

Nowhere in the history of the Great West has there been a larger immigration or better class of settlers than is now flocking to Central and Southern Alberta and, in fact, it is hard to find a more prosperous, satisfied class of people anywhere on the American continent. The settlers are people principally from Great Britain and the United States. In 1909 there were 400,000 Americans from the United States. from the United States passed through the ports of entry into Western Canada and took up set-tlement, and the statistics of 1910 thus far have surpassed all pre-

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company are offering every in-ducement to secure a good class ducement to secure a good class of settlers and are doing wonderful colonization work on their 3,000,000-acre tract of fertile lands laying east of Calgary, Alberta, along their main line. They have upwards of 16,000 miles of irrigation canals and ditches in this block of land and are now putting 800,000 acres more under irrigation at a cost of $12,000,000 irrigation at a cost of $12,000,000. Here one will observe in passing over the main line of the C. P. Ry. going east from Calgary, Alta., a most prosperous farming section. ing section, where all small grains, alfalfa, timothy and sugar beets thrive with enormous yields and where diversified farming is the principal occupation. It is still possible to secure most desirable farm lands here at a very small cost and upon most liberal terms. Beautiful illustrated literature that will put you in possession of that will put you in possession of much valuable information concerning this country may be had upon request or by applying after May 1, 1910, to Jamieson, Gillis & Brown, rooms 319-20 Newhouse bldg., Salt Lake City, Colonization Agents for the Canadian Pacific Ry.
